Chapter XII. — IN THE PASSAGES.

(By—GERALD BURRARD.)

JUDGING by his sense of direction, Geoffrey thought that they were immediately beneath the long torture-hall, but it is ever a matter of great difficulty to keep one's bearings when underground. He counted their paces as they advanced—thirty-fourty-fifty. If he had guessed right they should now be underneath the passage which led to the main temple gate, in which he had had such a desperate fight before being compelled to retreat into the great hall.

The passage turned suddenly to the left and they came upon some more steps, which this time led upwards. At the head of the little stairway was another door. Geoffrey tried it, but it was certainly locked, and possibly bolted on the far side, for it did not yield at all to his quiet but firm push. Mr. Merridew inserted the keys one after another in the lock while Phyllis held the dimmed torch and Geoffrey his automatic.

At last the missionary found a key which fitted.

"Put out the light, dear."

Then slowly and very cautiously Mr. Merridew turned the key. The lock was well oiled, and Geoffrey found, to his relief, that the door gave smoothly. He opened it a foot and listened. Not a sound broke the stillness of the night. He thrust his hand out in front of him, but it struck nothing. All three stepped across the threshold and once more stood listening, listening. Geoffrey took the torch from Phyllis and switched it on. The beam of light cut through the darkness and revealed a wall opposite them and some ten paces away. He then swung the light round, when they realised that they were in a circular room, from which doors and passages radiated in every direction. Geoffrey closed the door by which they had entered, but did not lock it: they might want to make a sudden dash into hiding; it was impossible to foretell.

One door on their immediate left was considerably larger and more massive than any of the others. It was studded with iron, and heavily barred and bolted. There was also a great lock, cunningly carved and ornamented. A blast of ice-cold air swept underneath, for there was a clearance of quite three inches between the bottom of the door and the floor. Geoffrey stopped and peered through, and hope rose high, for beyond he could plainly see scarpes and rocks upheaving themselves in the bright light of the moon.

They were actually standing at the main gate of the temple. Beyond it lay the open uplands of Tibet and freedom. Inside it evil and horrors such as none of them had heretofore ever imagined even in their wildest nightmares. But they were on the wrong side of the gate and it was locked. One after another they tried the "Tiger's" keys, but not one was of anything approaching the proportions necessary to fit that carved lock.

"I suppose it is locked, and not merely barred and bolted," said the missionary.

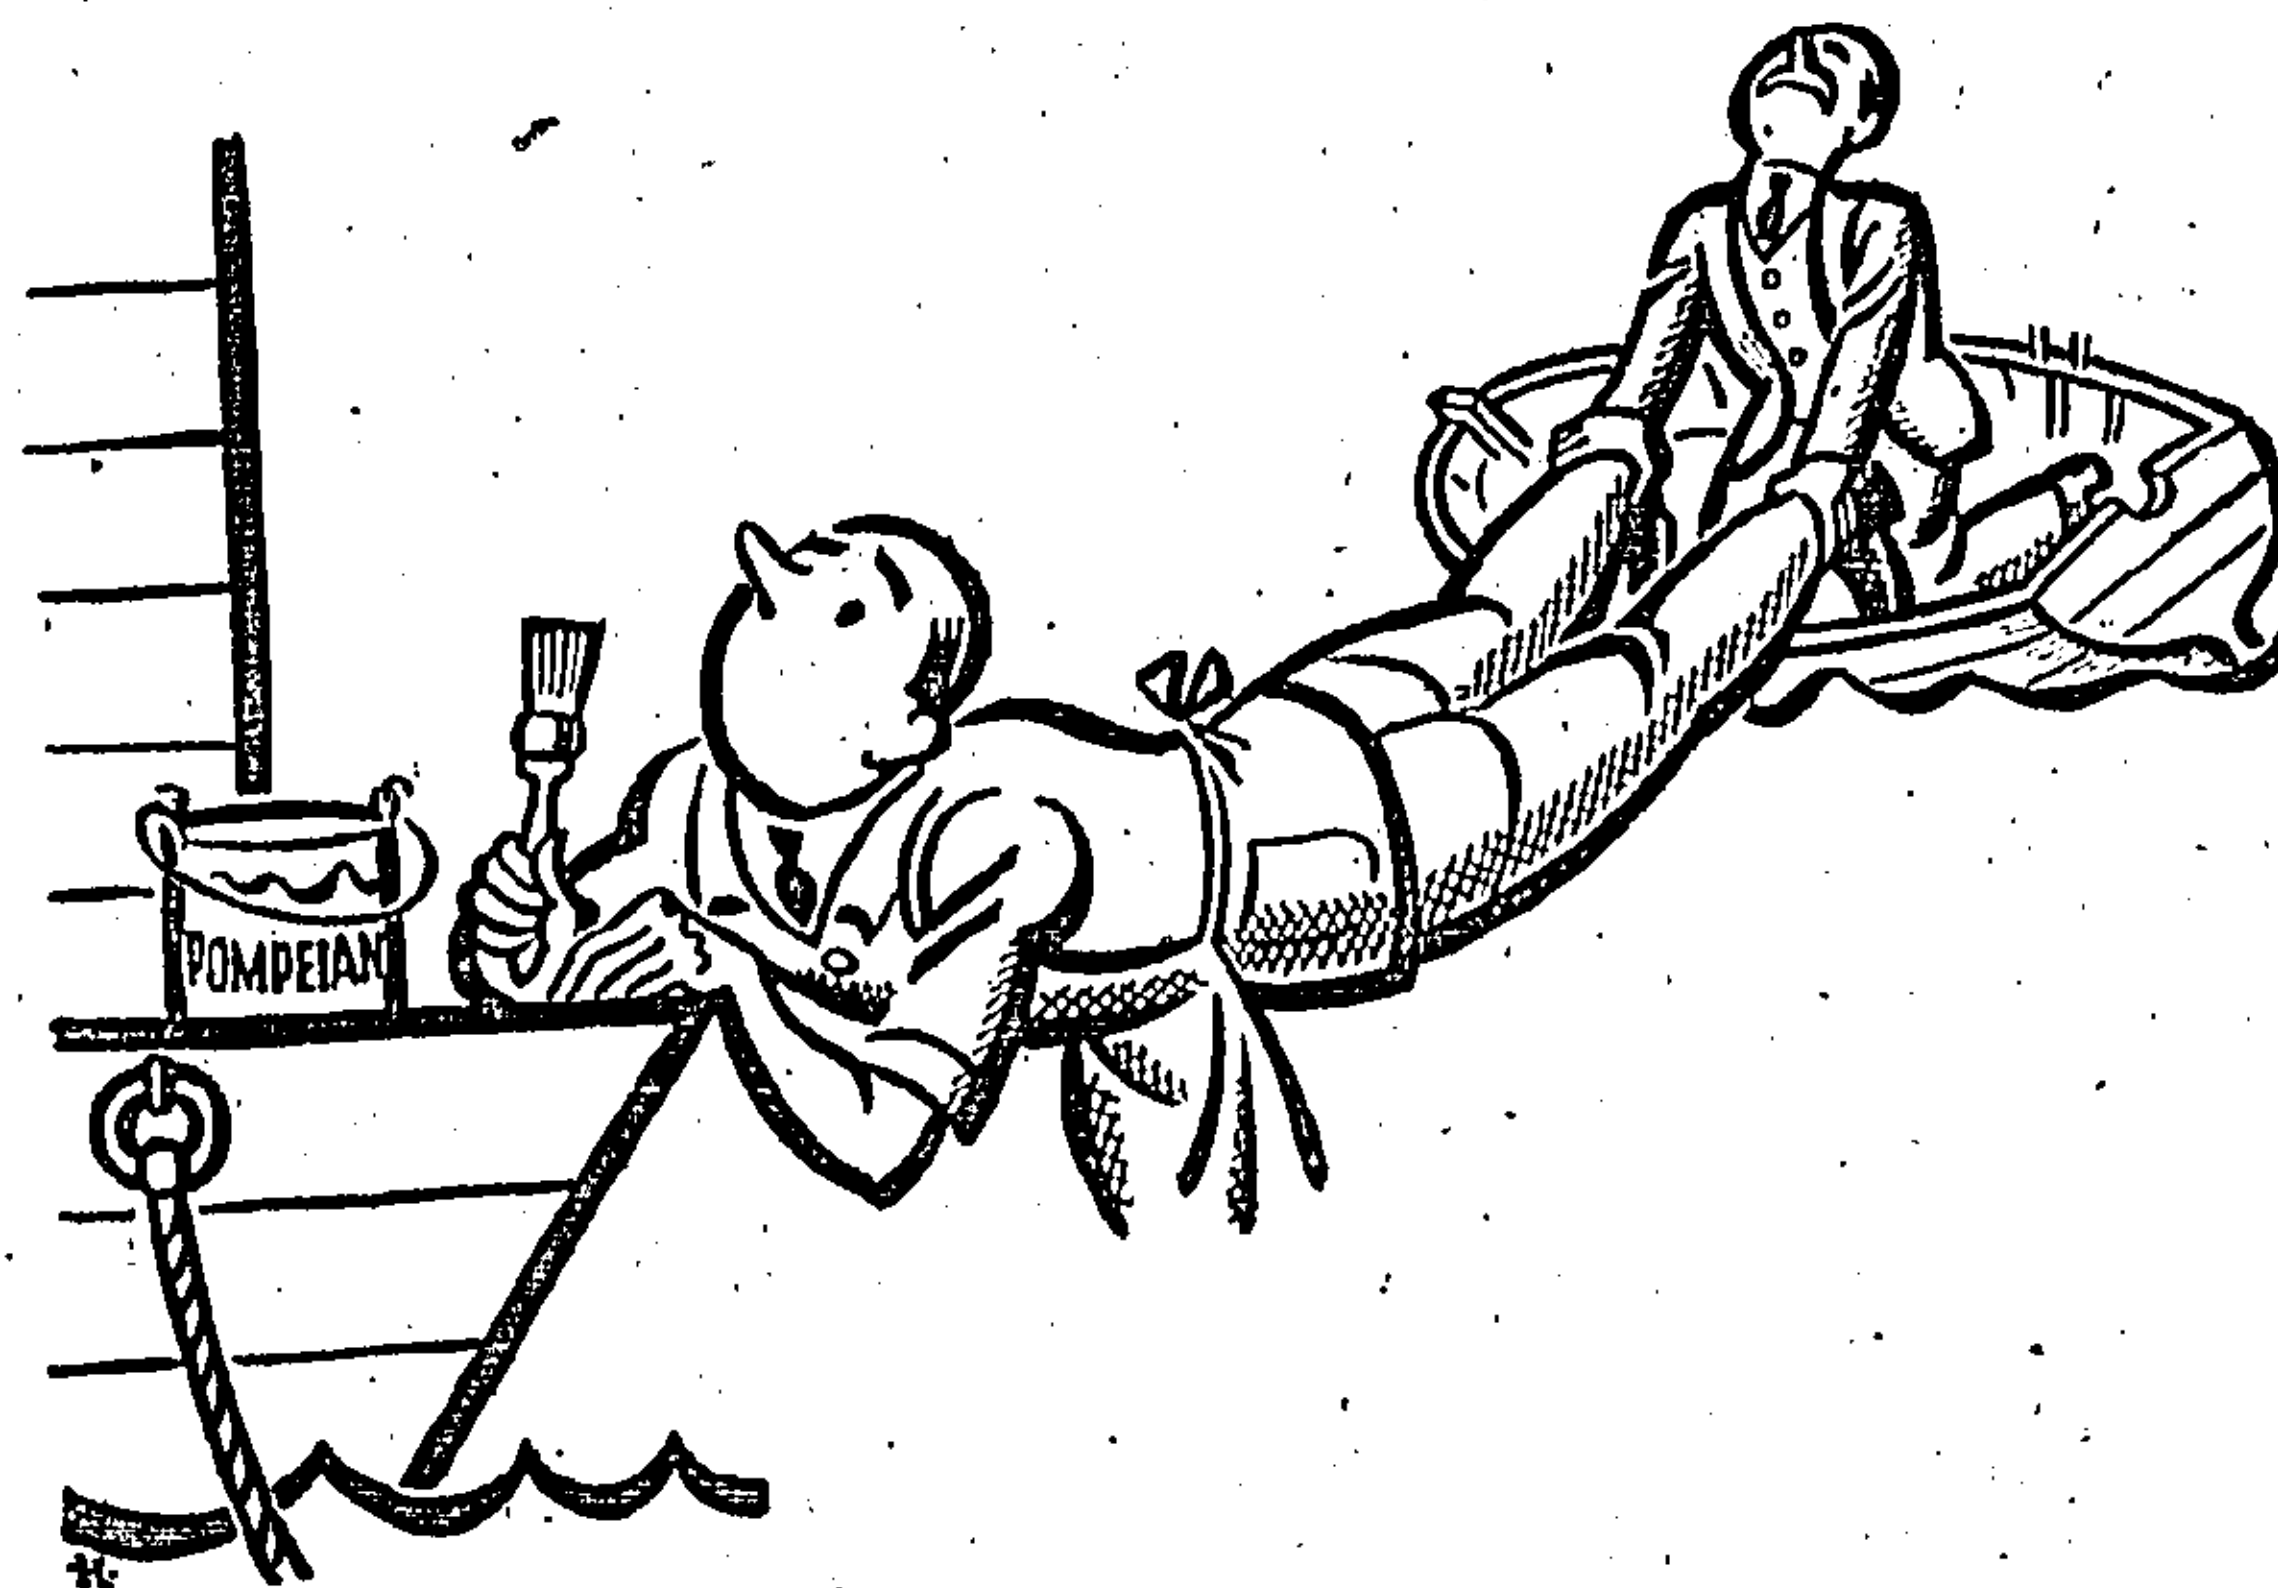

"Oh yes. There is no doubt about that, worse luck. I will see if I can pick it."

But try as he might the lock defied Geoffrey's every effort, and as the minutes slipped by their hopes began to sink lower and lower.

Correct Breathing For Obesity

Imperfect Oxygenation Of The Blood.

EXPERTS hold that the cause of obesity is incomplete digestion of food caused by imperfect oxygenation of the blood.

If you acquire the habit of correct breathing at all times and so enable the lungs to take in an adequate supply of oxygen, your food will do the good it is intended to do. A new slimming apparatus which promotes correct breathing is now on the market. It is inexpensive and effective, and used in accordance with the directions, which are very simple, will enable every woman to keep her figure slim and youthful from 16 to 60.

Two-Piece Dresses

Adaptable For Every Occasion.

THE increasing importance of the two-piece dress for autumn should be welcomed with thanksgiving. A more comfortable, wearable fashion has never been invented. The line is slimming to all figures, which is good news for the larger woman.

The tunic dress for daytime and afternoon heads the list of autumn versions of the two-piece dress, and

How To Improve Greasy Skins

Attention To Diet Is First Essential.

CUCUMBER AND OATMEAL FOR EXTERNAL USE

THERE are several simple treatments for a greasy skin. In the first place, special consideration should be given to diet. Greasy, oily foods should be avoided, and plenty of cold water should be drunk. Every morning, cold water should be splashed over the face with the hands. An old-fashioned but practical "remedy" is to wipe the face over with cucumber skins several times a day, afterwards allowing it to dry.

Oatmeal Treatment.

Another treatment is to mix fine oatmeal with a few drops of rose water into a paste, rub this gently on the face, leave it on for a few minutes, then wipe it off with a very soft towel, afterwards rinsing the face with warm water. Finally, splash cold water on the face. Do not, however, do this too often, as it may eventually dry the skin too much.

Cleansing Creams.

A greasy skin requires a good lotion foundation before make-up. Good cleansing creams will do much to reach down into and clean the pores. This cream should be applied each night, but should on no account be left on the face. After the cream cleansing, wash with a good soap, rinse well with warm, then cold water, then apply a mild astringent before finally going to bed.

Hair Treatment At Home

Hot Oil Shampoo.

A thing that will keep your hair lovely is a hot oil treatment. Of course it is lots more convenient to have this work done in a beauty parlour, but you can do it yourself. The ideal hot oil shampoo given at home is done by applying warm oil at night, rubbing it well into the scalp. Then, the next day steam the scalp with hot towels, and proceed with the soap shampoo.

If you have not the time, or rather the inclination, to apply the oil at night, it can be rubbed in just before the shampoo and steamed.

Use Brilliantine.

A little brilliantine is another thing that keeps the hair soft and shiny after a permanent wave. This is best applied with a spray, as the oil spreads more smoothly.

If your hair is not naturally curly, a permanent is really the only thing to have if you want to look lovely in the evening and would appear well groomed in your new autumn hat.

Tweed For Sports Coats

PRACTICALLY every sports coat that has any claim to importance is made of tweed. Tweeds are walking off with all the honours that have a busy life ahead of them. They are ready and willing to stand up under the strain of daily wear and tear. Tweeds were never more interesting. Checks, diagonal stripes, line plaids and a variety of novelty weaves, including mixtures, furnish a wide selection and they are all smart.

LEAD 3-0 AT THE INTERVAL

LINCOLNS PROUD RECORD SHATTERED BY SAINTS

UGLY SCENE AT KING'S PARK

SENSATIONS abounded in the local soccer league yesterday. South China, led 3-0 at half time, lost by the odd goal in five against the Club who repeated last season's sensational triumph. E. Strange was the outstanding player in this match.

The Lincolns lost their unbeaten record in the premier division when they were well and truly beaten by the Saints by 4 goals to 1 after being led by the odd goal in three at half time.

An ugly scene, necessitating the assistance of the Police, was witnessed in the Third Division encounter between South China and the Recreio at King's Park, when, as a result of a fight on the field, a portion of the crowd of Chinese spectators broke on to the field and threw stones. One spectator was badly cut over the eye.

FIRST DIVISION.

Club Repeat Last Year's Sensation.

CHAMPIONS WELL BEATEN.

Once again the Club have lowered South China's colour! Repeating last year's performance, they defeated the league favourites yesterday on the Caroline Hill ground by the odd goal in five after leading by three clear goals at the interval.

Before the game, the general question was—can they do it? They did it, and fully deserved their win too, and by doing so have made the championship race a very open one. Had South China triumphed, as they were expected to do, they would have had a comfortable lead at the head of the First Division table, as the Lincolns were defeated yesterday by St. Joseph's, which would have left South China with a one-point lead and a game in hand.

Notable Absentees.

The absence of Ip Pak-wai and Fung King-cheung from the South China forward line was very noticeable yesterday, the usual smooth working attack being very rugged and lacking in cohesion. Many valuable scoring chances were wasted, and long passes were intercepted.

For the Club Strange (E) played a wonderful game, and was a source of anxiety to the South China defence. Apart from scoring two of the Club's goals, Strange combined well with Hickford and Howe. Fowler and Dominy again proved a very dangerous wing, and played an ideal game.

The game opened with South China attacking strongly, and for some time the defence had a busy time, until pressure was relieved by Hynes. Opening the play with long swinging passes to the wings, the Club settled down quickly to open their account through Strange. A nice long pass by Boyd out to the left enabled Hickford to make a great run down the touchline to send the ball over from the corner flag for Strange to score with a fine drive.

"Outside Left's" Review of yesterday's matches will appear in to-morrow's China Mail

South China attacked, and Lowson cleared well under heavy pressure. Play hovered around the middle for a few minutes, until Dominy obtained possession and ran through on his own to score the Club's second point.

Both teams were playing splendid football, which was a pleasure to watch. In another well formed attack, Strange added the third goal for the Club, shooting between the backs.

South China Recovery.

Resuming, three goals in arrears, South China attacked strongly, but were met by a rock-like defence. Fouls became frequent, and a little ill feeling crept into the game. The South China forwards were now having some good opportunities, but were not combining well, leaving Strange and Hynes an easy task in clearing. After fourteen minutes' play in the second period, however, a misunderstanding on the part of the Club defence enabled Wong Mee-shun to score for South China.

Howe was injured and had to leave the field, and with ten men the Club were then mainly on the defensive. South China made some very good efforts to get on terms, but it was not until nine minutes from the end that they scored their second goal, Wong Mee-shun netting from a penalty.

Although South China made valiant efforts to score the equaliser, they were stubbornly kept out by the Club defence.

INTERPORT ROWING CANTON WIN OVER YACHT CLUB & V.R.C.

Triangular Encounter Decided On Last Race.

YACHT CLUB LEAD LOST

THE Canton Rowing Club snatched victory from the Royal Hong Kong Yacht Club by a margin of only 1/2 a point as the result of the very last race of the day to win the Victoria Recreation Club's Interport Rowing Regatta held at Kowloon Bay yesterday afternoon.

The Yacht Club led the Canton team by 14 points to 13 before the final race. A second place to the V.R.C. in the Senior Pairs gave Canton 3 points and Victory, the Yacht Club receiving only 1 1/2 points for third place. The final placing was Canton, 16 points, Royal Yacht Club, 15 1/2 points and V.R.C. 10 1/2 points.

A thrilling tussle was waged between the Royal Hong Kong Yacht Club and the Canton team throughout, the Canton crews leading after the second race, but giving way in the third race by a margin of one point.

V.R.C. Disappoint

Except for a brilliant win in the Senior Pairs Race, the V.R.C. gave a poor display. The V.R.C. Griffiths, however, triumphed over the Royal Yacht Club in no uncertain manner, but this race was not included in the Interport races.

One of the most exciting races of the day was the V.R.C. members' Chairman's Cup Race, which was won by only 1/4 length, all three boats finishing with a boat's length.

H.M.S. Suffolk proved victorious in the race for Naval cutters with H.M.S. Falmouth in second place.

The Chinese Chamber of Commerce Challenge Cup for V.R.C. Griffiths was not competed for owing to the late hour of starting.

Ideal Rowing Conditions

Conditions for rowing were ideal. A smooth sea and a running tide, assisted by a following wind resulted in very good times being recorded.

A misunderstanding as the hour of the departure of the launches, which were to convey the competitors to the course, resulted in the Regatta being started well after the appointed hour, and only by dint of hard work by the Competitors' Steward, Mr. R. J. Hunt, was the programme completed. The final Senior Pairs race was rowed in fast falling light.

Two huge lighters moored at the finishing line provided comfortable and clear view of the races for the many spectators, while refreshments and tea were served on the beach where the rowing marquee was posted.

Revival After 11 Years

Perfect weather prevailed throughout the day which contributed towards the success of the Regatta. The V.R.C. are to be congratulated on the revival of their Rowing Regatta after a lapse of eleven years. A dinner was held at the Club's premises following the races to which the competitors of the visiting Clubs were invited.

MIERS RESPONSIBLE FOR NAVY WIN

CLUB RUGBY FIFTEEN LOSE 19 TO NIL

ST. CLAIR FORD SCORES THREE

THE genius of Lt. Miers at fly-half and the finishing touches of Lt. St. Clair Ford, the Scottish International wing three quarters, were the deciding factors in the Navy's Rugby triumph over the Club by two goals and three tries (19 points) to nil at the Valley yesterday.

Beaten in the tight scrums and over-run by much speedier out-sides who exploited reverse-passing movements to full advantage the Club performed extraordinarily well to keep the score down so low against probably the finest fifteen seen in the Colony during the last four years.

The Navy showed an early superiority in the tight scrums, but Bradford got more of the ball as the game progressed. In the loose scrums the Club heeling was excellent.

The Club were lucky not to have an early score against them "when" "Tubby" Linton dropped a "sitter" from St. Clair Ford with the line at his mercy. After twenty minutes, however, a reverse pass from Miers saw Slater go over for an unconverted try, Linton failing to get direction with a good kick.

The best try of the match was witnessed when Darley took a good pass from Miers to burst through the Club defence and score a spectacular try.

Slater attempted to drop a goal shortly after, but he was in too much of a hurry and he failed to rise. Robertson then had a wonderful opportunity to score for the Club, but he threw out a long pass, which went astray, when he had only Buckley in front of him.

Rigg Saves Score

Rigg saved a certain score when he cleverly fell on the ball with Suther in close attendance. The forward punted over his head in the Club 25 but Rigg gathered the ball well to relieve a dangerous situation.

Hutchinson was then injured and had to leave the field. Bradford brought Cumming out of the pack to take the full-back position and brought Rigg up to partner Ferguson, and this combination managed to hold the Navy to 6 points at half time.

Hutchinson's Fine Tackle

Hutchinson came back into the Club side on the resumption, but played on the wing, Ferguson being transferred to the other wing where he partnered Lamert.

Hutchinson saved a certain try when he brought St. Clair Ford down heavily when the winger was only inches short of the line. From the five yards scrum, however, Miers sent St. Clair Ford over for Shaw to land the goal points with a kick that landed on the cross bar before going over.

Buckley attempted a long drop at goal, but was unsuccessful. Shortly after this, however, St. Clair Ford went over after a scrum which completely beat Rigg. Shaw missed the kick.

Ferguson was transferred back to his original position at this stage, and very nearly scored when Hutchinson picked up a loose pass from Robertson to send him down the touch line. Buckley, however, saved the Navy line with a glorious tackle.

The Navy's last try was pretty to watch and the result of good handling on the part of Curry, Miers and St. Clair Ford, all of whom took and gave high passes out of reach of the Club backs for the last named to make the touch down for Linton to add the goal points.

Robertson attempted a penalty goal from five yards inside the Navy half in the closing stages, but was unsuccessful.

Navy—Lt. Buckley (Medway); Lt. St. Clair Ford (Medway); Lt. Slater (Engle), Mid Darley (Suffolk); Lt. Curry (Medway); Lt. Miers (Medway); Lt. Forbes (Medway) (capt); Comdr. Roome (Medway); Lt. Linton (Medway); Lt. Evans (Suffolk); Lt. Nixon (Suffolk); Lt. Suther (Cumbria); Lt. Shaw (Folkestone); Pl. Off. Morris (Engle) and L. C. Pascoe (Derwick).

H.K. Ladies Beat The Saints.

JOAN CHURCHILL SCORES ONLY GOAL

Playing at Sockunpoo, yesterday afternoon the Hong Kong Ladies defeated the St. Andrews Ladies by the only goal in a very even game.

The Hong Kong Ladies deserved their win, although they should have won by a larger margin. Both defences were good, B. Pope, B. Holbling and M. Wallace being prominent in the champions' defence, while G. White and J. Wong were outstanding for the losers.

J. Churchill and E. Goldman formed the most dangerous partnership, with E. R. Bell as the better of the two wingers.

M. Woolley, skipper of the St. Andrews Ladies, was perhaps the best player on the field, but she lacked the necessary support from her insides to penetrate the Hong Kong Ladies defence.

Past play was a feature of the game throughout, the Hong Kong Ladies scoring through J. Churchill, who neatly took a pass from B. Hance to go through and net.

Mr. J. T. K. Gilchrist refereed and lined up the following: H.K. Ladies—M. Bird, B. Holbling, M. Wallace, B. Franklin, B. M. Pope, B. Hance, E. R. Bell, J. Dalziel, E. Bonnar, J. Churchill and E. Goldman.

St. Andrews—Mrs. R. Ross, Misses G. White, E. Landolt, I. Woolley, J. Wong, M. Church, F. Wong, I. Rogers, M. Woolley, I. Gittins and Miss P. Gittins.

Miss O. Dalziel (2) and Miss O. Brown scored for the winners in the first half, while Miss O. Brown scored a second goal for the "Y" in the final period.

Borderers Score Five Against Police.

SUPERIOR TEAM-WORK

The Borderers defeated the Police yesterday at Happy Valley by five goals to nil.

Harris opened the scoring for the Borderers, shooting into the net from close range after Fourty had completely missed the ball. Green should have equalised in the next minute, but shot over the bar from five yards.

The Borderers settled down much more quickly than the Police, and adapted themselves to the ground conditions, with the inevitable result. A very good movement between Harris and Fourty culminated in the latter scoring a goal with the Police defence spread-eagled.

Crossing over two goals in arrears, the Police made valiant efforts to get on terms, and were unlucky not to open their account when Brooks hit the upright with Smith beaten. Brooks made another nice effort immediately afterwards, but his shot was well saved by Smith.

McDermott sent Mathias away on the right, for the winger to send over a perfect centre, and Duncan ran in and had no difficulty in scoring from point blank range. Harris obtained his second goal with an awkward dropping shot, which should have been saved. McHardy jumping too late to get to the ball. The best goal of the match, which was also the last, was scored by Mathias, who ran in and drove hard from twenty-five yards. C. Pile saved a certain goal in the last few minutes, charging down a shot right on the goal line.

Borderers:—Smith; Mullane, Morrison; Wallace, Podmore, Jones; Mathias, Harris, Fourty, Hazlewood and Duncan.
Police:—McHardy; Blackburn, Pile (C); Gough, Channing, Shepherd, Pile (T), Moss, Green, Brooks and Brittain.

Saints Beat Leaders Convincingly.

EARLY LEAD CONSOLIDATED

The honours of yesterday's football must go to St. Joseph's, who defeated the Lincolns by 4 goals to 1 at Sookunpoo.

Within five minutes of the start Leonard, Rocha and Ward started off a passing bout which culminated in B. Gosano sending in a great cross shot which deceived Heath. After twenty minutes' play the Saints went further ahead. Ward being prominent and sending Rocha through to score, although hampered by the Lincolns' defenders.

The Lincolns then played their best football, McGuinness was just over with Marques out of goal, and then Ridley drew the defence and with a splendid forward pass gave Higgins a chance with which he made no mistake.

Crossing over with a slender lead the Saints soon went further ahead when Gosano sent the ball forward and Heath rushed out to clear only for Leonard to lob the ball over Heath's head into an untended goal. The Lincolns fate was sealed shortly after when Turner was robbed by Leonard who ran in to beat Heath easily.

The Lincolns made a determined effort to score and Marques saved well from Higgins only for a defender to be penalised. Bett, however, missed from the spot. Leonard went through again, but Heath saved well for a corner and then Ward had a great shot punched clear.

St. Joseph's:—Marques; Gomes, A. V. Gosano; V. Marques, Boltrao, Elmas; B. Gosano, Ward, Leonard, Rocha and Fernandez.
Lincolns:—Heath; Turner, Ash, Dudley, Cork, Bett; Baldry, McGuinness, Higgins, Ridley and Hocquard.

East Lanes Defeat The Recreio.

FIRST BRACE OF POINTS

The East Lanes secured their first brace of points at the expense of the weak Recreio side at King's Park, the soldiers winning by three clear goals.

The East Lanes were the first to attack and Thompson was prominent with neat dribbling. The Recreio defence was hard-pressed and surrendered their charge after five minutes' play, Sandford scoring a good goal. There were frequent exciting scrimmages round the Recreio goal, Marques making splendid saves.

Woods provided a thrill after the interval when he went through to skim the crossbar with a great drive. The Recreio then improved and Santos and Gomes made raids without success, Penn being well protected. Lawton scored the second goal when he swerved out to the right to flash in a splendid cross-shot. Near the end Woods gave Sandford an ideal pass for the latter to beat Marques once again.

Recreio:—Marques; Silva Netto, Bowen; Goncalves, Delgado, Maher; Castilho, Gutierrez, Sousa, Gomes and Santos.
Lincolns:—Penn; Swain, Gorman, Ball, Thompson, North; Sandford, Richardson, Lawton, Woods and Ridley.

Kowloon Fail In The Second Half.

LANGMEAD SCORES THREE

Scoring six goals to Kowloon's two, the Navy added two points to their aggregate in a comparatively easy manner, though Kowloon had as much if not more of the play in the first half.

Lewis opened the scoring in the first half with a low ground shot after running through on his own from the half-way line. Liddington just failing to reach the ball, but the Navy were not slow in equalising, Skinner scoring beautifully from thirty yards range.

Lewis once more put the Kowloon team ahead with another nice effort, but Smith equalised for the Navy with a goal which was loudly applauded by the spectators.

Kowloon opened the second half well, Blake going close with his head, but within a few minutes Langmead had tricked several defenders and put the ball past Cook to give the Navy the lead. From this period the Navy dominated the game and goals were not long in coming. Willis, in an endeavour to intercept a fast shot at goal deflected the ball into his own net and Langmead added two further goals within two minutes.

Kowloon:—Cook; Willis, Martin, Pope, Jones, Blake, Hill, Lewis, Timbrell, Elliot and Blake.
Navy:—Liddington; Buchanan, West, Purkins, McGuire, Ward; Hudds, Smith, Langmead, Barnett and Skinner.

SECOND DIVISION.

Two Lucky Goals For Club.

An uninteresting game on the Club ground yesterday resulted in a win for the Club over the Artillery by two goals to nil.

The interval came with the score sheet blank, and it was late in the second half before Duncan placed the Club ahead. Running down the middle Duncan shot at goal, but Wood managed to get to the ball, which, however, slipped from his hands, and although he regained possession, the referee awarded a goal to the Club, deciding that the ball had crossed the line. Bell scored the second goal, which was also rather luckily obtained, the ball glancing off a defender into the net.

Navy Score Eleven Goals!

The Navy routed Kowloon by 11 goals to 1 at Kowloon.

The Navy gave an excellent display of combination throughout, their passing being all that could be desired and with the forwards on the target, annexed the goals apparently quite easily.

McNeill opened the scoring for the Navy in the first few minutes and added another shortly after, White V. reducing the lead when he scored a first-time goal. Fairless, however, added another and Thomas and McNeill (2) scored before the interval.

In the second half Sayer added the seventh Naval goal which Fairless followed with a nice effort and Showbrook McNeill (2) and Fairless once more, completed the total.

Two Goals For Lincolns.

At Sookunpoo the Lincolns had a very close call against the Young Indians when they scored two goals late in the game.

Toyno was unfortunate at the opening when a great shot struck the crossbar; he repeated the effort later. The Lincolns' forward line played well in midfield, but shot badly. Setters and Cousins allowing Omar and Dean to clear re-

Champions' "B" Team Beat Recreio.

ODD GOAL LEAD AT INTERVAL: RESULT 5-1

On the Marina ground yesterday afternoon the Hong Kong Ladies' Hockey Club "B" eleven defeated the Club de Recreio Ladies by 5 goals to 1 in a friendly hockey encounter.

The opening exchanges were very even, but after 15 minutes play the Hong Kong ladies took the lead. Shortly afterwards the Recreio equalised, but another goal gave Hong Kong a slender lead at the interval. In the second half the Hong Kong Ladies had much more of the play than their opponents and added three more goals to bring their total five.

S. Adams (3) and M. Bishop (2) scored for the Hong Kong Ladies while C. Remedios scored the Recreio point.

peatedly. The Indians improved when their eleventh player turned up 25 minutes late, but could make no headway.

With about ten minutes to play the Lincolns took the lead when Cousins netted after a goalmouth scrimmage and 3 minutes later they increased their lead when Setters converted a centre from Clayton.

THIRD DIVISION.

FIVE FOR CLARKE

At Happy Valley yesterday the Lincolns overwhelmed the R.A.S.C. by seven goals to nil.

Clarke went nap, scoring five of the goals, the other two being obtained by Dudley and Matthews.

POLICE CALLED OUT

There were several ugly incidents at King's Park in the South-China-Recreio game, the game being abandoned 15 minutes from time owing to an altercation between the players which required Police assistance.

South China led at the interval by 2 goals. To Wai-hung and Tang Man-hung scoring, in the second half To Wai-hung (2) and Hoi Hui-kwong added further goals.

LUCKY MEDICAL'S POINT

The R. A. M. C. annexed both points in their encounter with the R. A. F. at Chatham Road winning by the only goal of the match after a keenly fought game.

Allen of R. A. F. was unlucky enough to put through his own goal at the commencement of the second stage after a blank first half.

GERMANY NOT A TARGET FOR DICTATION

Apart from the practicability of that procedure, which could only be carried out if they were reasonably sure they were going to get every State in agreement, he questioned the wisdom of such a procedure, and could imagine none more likely to drive the iron into Germany's soul than to suggest that Germany's withdrawal made no difference and for the rest to formulate a document and request Germany to sign on the dotted line.

The object of the Conference was to bring about a general agreement, and the only way to reach it was by negotiation, and not by the method of shots at long range.

Germany was not a target for dictation, he said. She was a partner in the discussion. The fact that she had been fit to withdraw to a distance greatly complicated the difficult question of immediate procedure but made no difference to Britain's resolve to do everything possible to make her again a partner in friendly discussion. In recent weeks, a number of tentative suggestions have arisen on the German side.

Co-ordination Essential.
Sir John Simon referred to the speech by Chancellor Hitler before the German elections and to the more recent interview with him in a great French newspaper which called for a most considered examination by all those seeking peace and reconciliation.

Therefore, when they came to consider the immediate course to pursue at Geneva it appeared that there might be a good reason for providing a period in which parallel and supplementary efforts might be made.

Of course, if those who put forward that sort of suggestion had at the back of their minds the abandonment of the efforts of the Disarmament Conference itself, the British Government would have nothing to do with it at all. That would be a fatal blow to the whole work of co-ordinated Disarmament.

Tribute To Italy.
He wished to acknowledge that Italy had made a most valuable contribution towards an agreement. There had been some very strongly phrased declaration made shortly before by the head of the Italian Government, Signor Mussolini, but while he and Sir John Simon were at Geneva, the Italian Government had authorized their representatives to explain that Italy was not seeking to avoid the continued good work of the Conference, but was anxious to co-operate with the rest in whatever precise line of procedure turned out to be the best.

France Amenable.
In the same way it was made clear that the French Government would not assume a rigid position, but was anxious for a procedure which could be so shaped as to produce the best prospects of results in the least possible time.

The French representatives were as insistent as the British that the Disarmament Conference should be kept in being. That was the situation which had resulted in the meeting of the Bureau, last Wednesday, when an absolutely unanimous view was taken.

By good feeling and good sense and complete friendly co-operation there had been unanimity on the procedure which was an essential preliminary to an agreement on substance. The Government had already taken a step to play their full part in endeavouring to promote diplomatic consultations.

Urges To Powers.
They had made it plain to the French Government that if they could see their way to enter into closer communication with the German Government they would have Britain's complete goodwill in so doing.

They had indicated to the German Government that the attentive note of declarations recently made by Chancellor Hitler and other German statesmen had been taken and that the whole of British influence would be used for trying to bring about a spirit of negotiation and co-operative action instead of keeping Germany at a distance.

Britain had communicated with the Italian Government to say how well satisfied she was to learn that they agreed as to the importance of keeping the Disarmament Conference in being.

The draft convention still held the field at Geneva, but a vast amount remained to be done before the second reading could usefully be undertaken, not for want of will or determination, but owing to the

CONSTABLE'S HAND BITTEN IN STRUGGLE.

For possession of two forged $5 bank notes of the Straits Settlements and a forged $10 Chartered Bank note, a Chinese woman named Tse Kee, living at 192 Hollywood Road, was sentenced to five months' hard labour at the Central Police Court yesterday by Mr. Balfour.

It was stated that the woman was seen to drop a packet when the police raided her flat on Thursday. A Chinese constable picked it up and the accused tried to snatch it from him. In the struggle, the woman bit the constable's hand. The packet was found to contain the forged bank notes.

LOCAL EDUCATIONAL APPOINTMENTS

Central British School's New Headmaster.

MR. J. RALSTON, M. A.

Several changes, it is understood, are impending in the Hong Kong Education Department, in consequence of retirements etc.

The appointment of Mr. J. Ralston, M. A. (Glasgow) is mentioned, as Headmaster of the Central British School, in succession to Mr. G. Franklin Nightingale, who, together with Mrs. Nightingale, also on the staff of the Central British School, is believed to be retiring very shortly.

Mr. Ralston arrived in the Colony in 1914 as an assistant master and during his service here he has held several headmasterships, including those of the Ellis Kadoorie Indian School, the Ellis Kadoorie School and Wanchai School. He has also acted as Inspector of Schools and been Secretary of the Board of Education.

Mr. Nightingale and his wife joined the Education Department in 1917, the former as assistant master. He was later made Headmaster of Yau-mat School and took over charge of the Central British School in 1923.

HONG KONG POLICE ORDERS.

Promotions Announced.

It is announced in the Hong Kong Police Orders that Inspector F. E. Booker, of Yau-mat Police Station, has been promoted Chief Inspector, vice Chief Inspector H. J. Patterson, who is retiring on pension.

Sub-Inspector A. Nicol, who is in charge of the Traffic Department, has been promoted full Inspector, vice Inspector Booker, while Police Sergeant G. R. Butcher, of the Water Police Station, has been promoted Sub-Inspector.

Lance-Sergeant Orem, at Lok-ma-chau Police Station has also been promoted Police Sergeant.

PEARLS AND PEARL JEWELLERY.

Exhibition At Messrs. Komor And Komor's.

Mr. Kodaka, who is staging an exhibition, at Messrs. Komor and Komor's galleries in Chater Road, of a choice collection of pearls and pearl jewellery mounted in gold, platinum and white gold, arrived on Friday by the Chichibu Maru.

Mr. Kodaka held no exhibition here last year, as he was engaged on an extended trip to Amsterdam, Paris and the Continent.

His collection on the present occasion comprises jewellery of the very latest designs, while prices, owing to the exchange, will be lower than on his previous visits.

News In Brief.

Mr. W. F. Gardner received his discharge in the Bankruptcy Court yesterday.

Cheung Shiu-wee, a Shanghai Chinese, was admitted to the Government Civil Hospital on Friday, suffering from head injuries received by falling from the scaffolding at the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank.

Fire broke out yesterday morning at the tailor's shop of Messrs. Sherry and Company, in Hankow Road, Kowloon. Fire appliances from both the Kowloon and Mong-kok stations were quickly on the scene and the outbreak was suppressed within a few minutes.

The final performances of Tai's Manila Carnival, showing at Kowloon on the ground near the Peninsula Hotel, will take place this afternoon and evening. A special programme, commencing at 4.30, has been arranged for the children, who are admitted to all parts of the show at reduced prices.

A fine of $10, in default two weeks' hard labour was imposed by Mr. Balfour at the Central Magistracy yesterday morning on Chung Fuk and Wong Mun, two unemployed Chinese, who pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing 3 panes of glass at 244 Des Vaux Road West. It was stated that accused removed the glass from the verandah door.

Lieutenant-Colonel Frederick Eaves, D.S.O., resumed duties as Assistant Land Officer and Deputy Registrar of Marriages on Wednesday last.

Christ A Symbol Of Humanity

Saviour's Social Life Embraced All

"FAVOURITE OF JERUSALEM"

(By A Local Padre.)

(This is another of the series of articles written exclusively for the "Sunday Herald" by a local Army chaplain.)

One of the great difficulties of religion, in dealing with the ordinary man is to get him to realize the utter humanity of Jesus Christ. He is prepared to accept His divinity, and feeling that it is so far above his head, he loses heart. The purpose of this series of articles is to stress His humanity, so that we may see how like us He really is.

In a book published some years ago, called "The Man Nobody Knows," the author whom I have quoted extensively brings this out in a wonderful way, and particularly when writing of Him as "The Social Man."

We know that He loved to be in the crowd. He attended the feasts in Jerusalem not only as religious festivals, but because the crowds were there, and He had a tremendous fondness for men. He was no social outsider. The poor, it is true, heard Him gladly, and most of His close followers were of the lower classes. But there was a time when He was quite the favourite of Jerusalem. The story of His days was dotted with invitations to dine with the rich and influential.

No other public character had a more interesting list of friends. It ran from the top of the social ladder to the bottom. There was Nicodemus, and the unknown rich man who owned the estate on the Mount of Olives. A Roman Centurion was proud to be among His friends, and the owner of the "upper room," the wife of Herod's steward, and the rich man who begged for His body on the day of the cross.

A Friend To All

All sorts of people made up the rest of His circle. Pharisees, fishermen, merchants, soldiers, lawyers, beggars, publicans and sinners. What a spectacle they must have made trailing after Him in the streets, or sitting on the mountain-side when He preached. How they revelled in the keen thrust of His answers, when some smart member of the company tried to trip Him up. He loved it all the pressure of the crowds, the clash of wits. When He was criticised because He enjoyed it so much, He gave an answer that throws a wonderful light upon His own conception of His mission.

"Do the friends of the bridegroom fast while he is with them," He asked. "Not a bit of it; they enjoy every minute. I am the bridegroom, let my friends be happy while we are together." That was His picture of Himself—the centre and soul of a glorious existence, a bringer of news so wonderful that

IMPORT AND EXPORT LABELS IMITATED.

Adulterated Brandy For Service Men.

CHINESE FINED $100.

Describing the contents as "fire-water," Revenue Officer Grimsitt prosecuted a Chinese, Yau Ching, at the Central Police Court yesterday for possession of four bottles of adulterated brandy.

He said that the case was a serious one as the bottles bore labels which were a very good imitation of those issued by the Imports and Exports Department, while they also carried genuine Hennessy labels and corks. They were sold to sailors and soldiers in Wanchai.

The spirit in the bottles was a mixture of brandy and arrack, or spirits of wine, and two pegs were sufficient to render a man completely drunk, he said.

Messrs. Johnson, Stokes and Masters, the solicitors, had cabled to the agents for Hennessy's brandy in London and Paris but had not yet received a reply, so that the prosecution were obliged to proceed with the present charge.

Mr. Hamilton, the Magistrate, imposed a fine of $100, in default 2 months' hard labour.

those who received it should be marked by their radiance as with a badge. Of course He disregarded the narrow code of the Pharisees. He refused to be tied down as ritual and observances. His God was no Bureau, no Rule Maker, no Accountant.

Parable Of Two Sons

He told a story which must have outraged the self-righteous members of His audience. He said that a certain man had two sons. The elder, a perfectly proper young man who worked hard and was very respectable. But people were gloomier rather than happier when he came on the scene. He never once gave way to a generous impulse.

The younger was a reckless ne'er do well, who took his money and wasted it in wild living in a far country. He repented and worked his way home. There were high doings in that house that night, and everyone enjoyed it except the elder son. He was sullen and self pitying, disapproved strongly of the party, and the father's forgiveness of his son brother. The father did not defend the younger son, but he rebuked the elder. The implication to the crowd was plain enough. There are two ways in which a man can waste his life, the story said in effect, one is to run away from your responsibilities, causing sorrow to others and killing your finer nature. That is wrong and a man must repent and change his life if he is to be received back.

But the other thing is equally wrong. God is a generous giver, and selfish getting is sin. God has made this world a pleasant place. Those who find no pleasure and give none, offer Him a constant affront. However precise their conduct, their spirits are an offence. This was His message—a happy God, wanting His sons and daughters to be happy too.

Pharisees Denounced
No passages are more scathing than His denunciations of the cheerless self-righteous Pharisees. They smarted under the sting, and the crowds laughed at their discomfort, and cheered the young man who dared to call himself the greatest of all the prophets, and still proclaimed that life is a gift to be enjoyed, not a penance to be served.

All achieving characters have a sublime disregard of public criticism. Christ was no exception. "People will talk about you," He said, in effect, "no matter how you live or what you do. Look at John the Baptist. He came neither eating nor drinking, and they said that he had a devil. I come both eating and drinking, and what do they call me? A wine bibber and a gluttonous man!"

He must have used those words as a joke on himself and on John, though the gospels do not say so. Indeed, we must often wonder how much of His humour has been lost to us by the literal-mindedness of His chroniclers. They were hard-headed men, with very little, if any, sense of humour, and we have to read behind the lines to find it, but it is there.

The Child's Example
Wherever He went the children flocked. They are neither attracted by prominence nor awed in its presence. Unfavourably they comprehend who are real and who are not. With the accumulated knowledge of the ages they know their friend.

So they used to swarm around Him, climbing on His knees, smiling up into His eyes, begging to hear more of His stories. When the disciples wanted to get rid of them, He would have none of it. "Suffer the little children to come unto Me," He commanded. And He added one of those sayings which throw such a light upon the spirit of His gospel. They are the very essence of the Kingdom of Heaven. He said: "Unless you become like them, you shall not enter in."

Like them;... like little children... laughing... joyous... unaffected full of imagination... trusting implicitly... with time to be kind.

ROOSEVELT'S PLAN EXPLAINED.

After the refutation is complete, and stabilisation is in order, the price of gold need not vary so greatly. Though even then it should not be stereotyped as in times past, lest again a "scramble for gold" shall raise its value by lowering the price level of commodities.

The world is, little by little,
saying good-bye to the old-fashioned treacherous gold standard. Henceforth gold will be our servant, not our master.

President Roosevelt is, as he says, moving toward a "managed" currency, a commodity dollar, or a market-basket dollar. It may be linked to gold, but not at an in-revocable price of gold.

The important point is that we can, by proper management, make the price level what we will, provided we are not chained too tightly to gold.

President Roosevelt has raised the price level, will raise it more,
and then stabilise it.

THE HELENA MAY INSTITUTE

Annual Meeting Held Yesterday.

KOWLOON BRANCH CLOSED

The annual general meeting of the Helena May Institute was held yesterday morning in the Concert Hall before a large gathering of members. Mrs. F. Wood, the President, was in the chair, supported by Mrs. Grist, Hon. Secretary and Mrs. K. B. Fleming, Treasurer.
Lady Peel attended the meeting as Patroness.

Among those present were Mrs.
O. C. Borrett, Mrs. A. C. Wolfe,
M.B.E., Mrs. A. G. Cooke, Mrs. J.
D. Danby, Mrs. A. Y. Greaves, Mrs.
Shellshear, Mrs. F. Elliott, Mrs.
Duncan, Mrs. A. Murdoch, Mrs.
Davidson, Mrs. Roffey, Mrs. R. E.
Lindell, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Gubbay,
Mrs. Ross and Miss D. W. Westland.
Mrs. Wood, in presenting her annual report said:—

It will be seen from the Report of the House Committee that much has been done during the year on repairs to our building. Furnishing expenses have also been heavy. Included among the repairs have been the re-wiring of the whole building and the renewal of cold water pipes, also considerable repairs to the roof.

Children's Library

"The Library has been fully used by members and the Institute is under a great debt of gratitude to its Library Committee. I should like to note that there is a Children's Library which is at present small.
We devote our available funds to the Library for adults. Books in the Children's Library have all been presented to us. I understand that several parents are much interested in the Children's Library. We should much appreciate assistance and suggestions. The subscription for membership to the Children's Library is only $3.00 per annum.

"I should like to recommend to the Council of next year that a grant may be made to the Library Committee for the purpose of buying children's books and that in future all subscriptions received for membership of the Children's Library may be utilized in buying such books. By this method a good children's book club will soon be established. This would be a piece of work well worth doing.

"During the year concerts have been held. On occasions the attendance has fallen short of our expectations. The excellence of our programmes deserves wider support.

Kowloon Branch

"In the course of last summer the Council resolved to close the Kowloon Branch of the Institute as it had proved to be a financial burden.
It would appear that the time is not yet ripe for a women's hostel of this kind in Kowloon as the majority of girls for whom accommodation is sought are employed on this side of the harbour.

"I want to add one word of regret that this is the last Annual Meeting which I shall attend as I am leaving the Colony in the new year.
I have been associated with the Helena May Institute now for over ten years and have and shall always have its welfare very much at heart."

CHINESE FINED $4000 OR FOUR MONTHS' GAOL

Arrested with 145 taels of raw opium tied around his legs and waist, Chung Hon, an unemployed Chinese, was charged at the Central Police Court yesterday and fined $4,000, in default four months' hard labour.

Another Chinese, who was arrested in company with the first defendant, had 140 taels of raw opium in his possession. He was also charged with returning from banishment and pleading not guilty was remanded in police custody until Monday.

Sweden has stabilised her price level through two years, within two per cent. week after week. The old "automatic" gold standard was a hit-or-miss, happy-go-lucky affair,
and unfit for a scientific age.

In short, President Roosevelt's gold policy is simply so to manage gold as, with other measures, to reflate the price level to normal, and then stabilise it there.

GOLDMAN AND MRS. LOCHNER WIN FINAL

Taking the first three games in the opening set the new champions led 5-4, but, with Goldman dropping his service, the set went to 7-5. In the second set the Chinese pair were led 5-3, but Lo won his service to love and Goldman dropped his service to level the scores at 5-5. The new champions, however, snatched Mrs. Litton's service to love and Mrs. Lochner did not concede a point on her service to clinch the set and match at 7-5.

Both Goldman and Lo were shaky
at the net, the latter often handicapping his partner by rushing across the court to intercept drives.

Mrs. Litton, Colony champion, played remarkably well on occasion, though Mrs. Lochner was the steepler of the two. The driving of all four players was the feature of the game.

Value of Sport

Called upon to speak, His Excellency the Governor stressed the value of sport for bringing together the people of different nations and for the establishing of friendly relations.

Although a "Rugger Knee" and "Tennis Elbow" had curtailed his own sporting activities to golf and riding, he expressed his keen interest in tennis, and congratulated the victors and vanquished on their splendid game.

Lady Peel then presented the prizes.

THE TIGER OF TIBET

At last Geoffrey had to admit himself beaten. "There's one chance," he said "let's unfasten all the bars and slip every bolt. Then the one thing which will be holding the gate will be the lock. I could fire a shot from the pistol into it and then perhaps the lock will break. But, on the other hand, there is an equal chance that the only effect the shot would have be to jam the lock tighter than ever, in which case we would be caught like rats in a trap. Personally I think that lock is sufficiently stout to withstand any shock which a pistol like this could give. I have never seen anything heavier or more massive. Then the sound of the shot would be absolutely certain to attract attention, and we would be inevitably discovered."

"Well, have you any alternative suggestion? It seems too cruel that we should be thus balked when freedom is almost in our grasp. We must not forget, however, that we are in God's hands, and we must pray that He will guide us to a right decision."

"I must admit that I don't like the idea of attracting attention too prematurely. I expect our escape will be discovered soon enough in any case. There may be another exit somewhere, but I must say I don't think it likely, as even Thompson's private passage leads to this side of the gate."

"Could we find out way to the courtyard and then climb out over the top?" asked Phyllis.

"I don't think so, as I studied those walls pretty carefully when I was first taken up there before you were brought out. They are quite thirty feet high with no hold of any sort that I could see. No, I am really inclined to think that our best chance is to wait in hiding near here, in Thompson's private passage, for instance, until the morning. And then when the gate is unlocked we might make a dash for it. I admit that it is a pretty hopeless lookout, but all the same I'm hanged if I can see anything better."

Geoffrey had purposely switched the light off during this whispered consultation, and he was about to turn it on once more to show the way to Thompson's door when they heard the approach of shuffling footsteps.

"The door. Quick!" he whispered, and seizing Phyllis, who in turn clung to her father, Geoffrey tiptoed away from the temple gate. But he had mistaken his direction. During the trials of the keys in the lock he had turned round somewhat

MOTORING NOTES.

MEXICAN ROAD RACE WON BY FORDS.

First Three Places Gained.

WINNING CAR AVERAGES 78.25 M.P.H.

Three Ford cars—two V-8s and a 1931 "four"—won the first three places in the famous Laredo-Monterey road race sponsored by the Mexican Automobile Association, an affiliate of the American Automobile Association, according to official reports of the race just received.

The two V-8s established the fastest time on record for the course. The third Ford won the same position in the class B event of the original road races which formally opened the new Pan-American highway between Laredo and Monterey three years ago.

The race was won by Eddy Byers, in a Ford V-8, with an average speed for the 138.6-mile race of 78.25 miles per hour. Jimmie Davis, also driving a Ford V-8, who

MOTORISTS SHOULD CARRY PENCILS.

Easy Starting Tip.

An amusing and simple hint for starting motor engines easily if they seem obstinate is given in "Motor Transport." All one has to do is to take out the sparking plugs, and rub the points with a soft black-lead pencil. It is explained that the carbon from the pencil glows and gives much greater heat than the spark would by itself.

was placed second, one minute and 14 seconds behind the winner, his average speed being 77.5 miles per hour. Jim Hall, of Houston, Texas, was third in a Ford Model A, average, speed 73.1 miles per hour.

The performance of the three Fords in winning the first three places in the Mexican classic recalls the Ford victory in the stock car event at the Elgin National Road Races a month ago, when seven Ford V-8s took the first seven places in the famous event, the winning car averaging 80.22 miles per hour for the 203-mile circuit.

From a "4" to an "8"— Progress

Henry Ford
Dearborn, Mich.

We did not invent the 8-cylinder car. What we did was to make it possible for the average family to own one.

It is not the number of cylinders that is new to us. We have made motors with every number of cylinders now in use from 4 to 12—and experimentally up to 24. We early settled on the "4" as most practical for that time, and the "4" became standard all over the world.

When motoring conditions in this country permitted a step forward, we considered what form the engine should take. Convinced that cylinders in multiples of four offered the best results, we decided that our next step must be an "8". All our research and experience favored this rather than any intermediate number of cylinders.

Up to that time the "8" had always been a big engine, a costly motor for the rich. Its price was high. It was expensive to operate. But that was because it was designed for use only in heavy, high-priced cars. It had never been adapted to lighter cars.

Before the "8" could be put within reach of the average purchaser, we had to find a way to build it at low cost.

We have done that. Our Ford V-8 is in the price class of our "4". It is not more expensive to operate. In size and weight our V-8 engine is suitable to our medium-size car. It gives you 80 horse-power—built up from the impulses of eight small cylinders.

The newness of the "8" to the majority of American car drivers is clearly shown by the question, "But isn't it more expensive to run?" Everyone would prefer an "8" but they reason that 2 times 4 is 8; and they think that an "8" must require more fuel than a "4".

This is not the fact. It is not the number of cylinders, but the weight of the car and the efficiency of the engine that determine the quantity of fuel used.

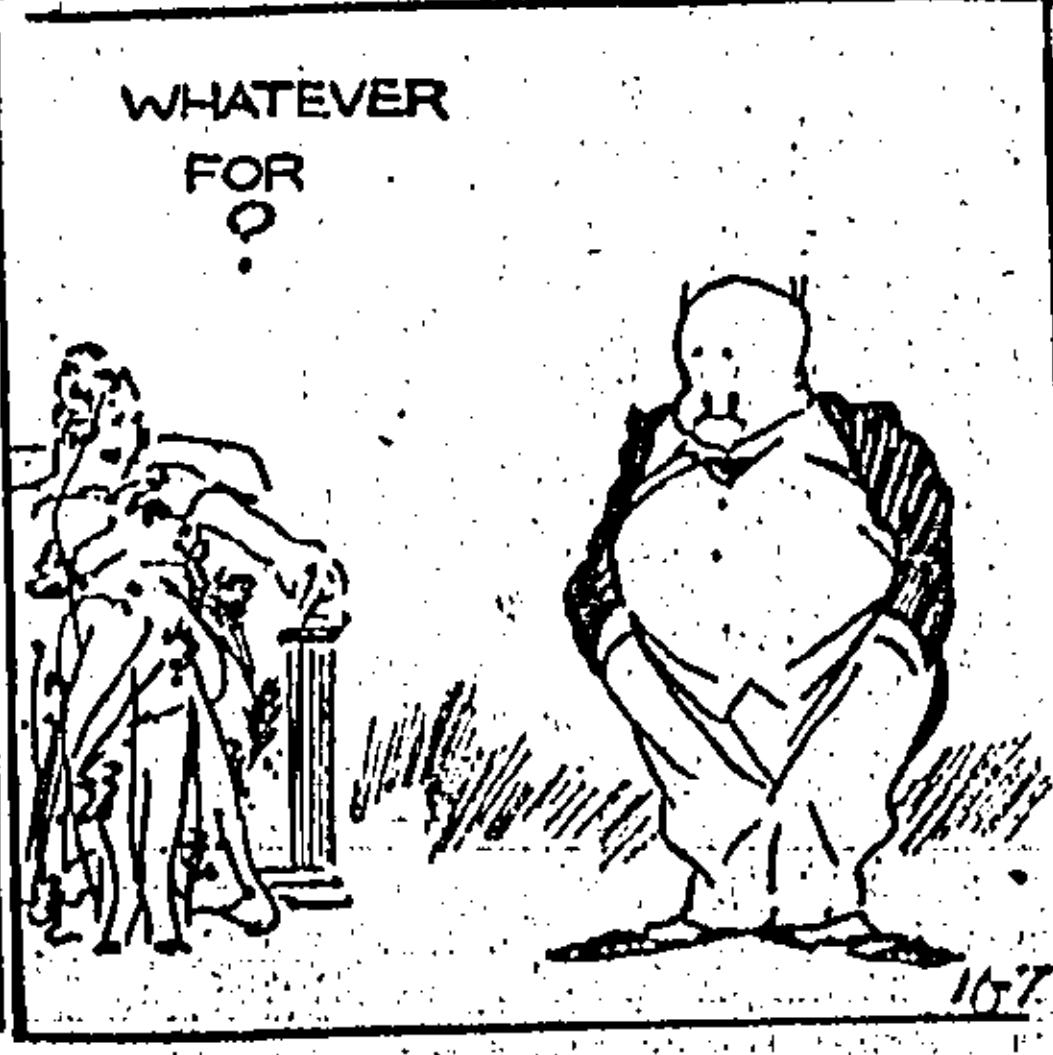

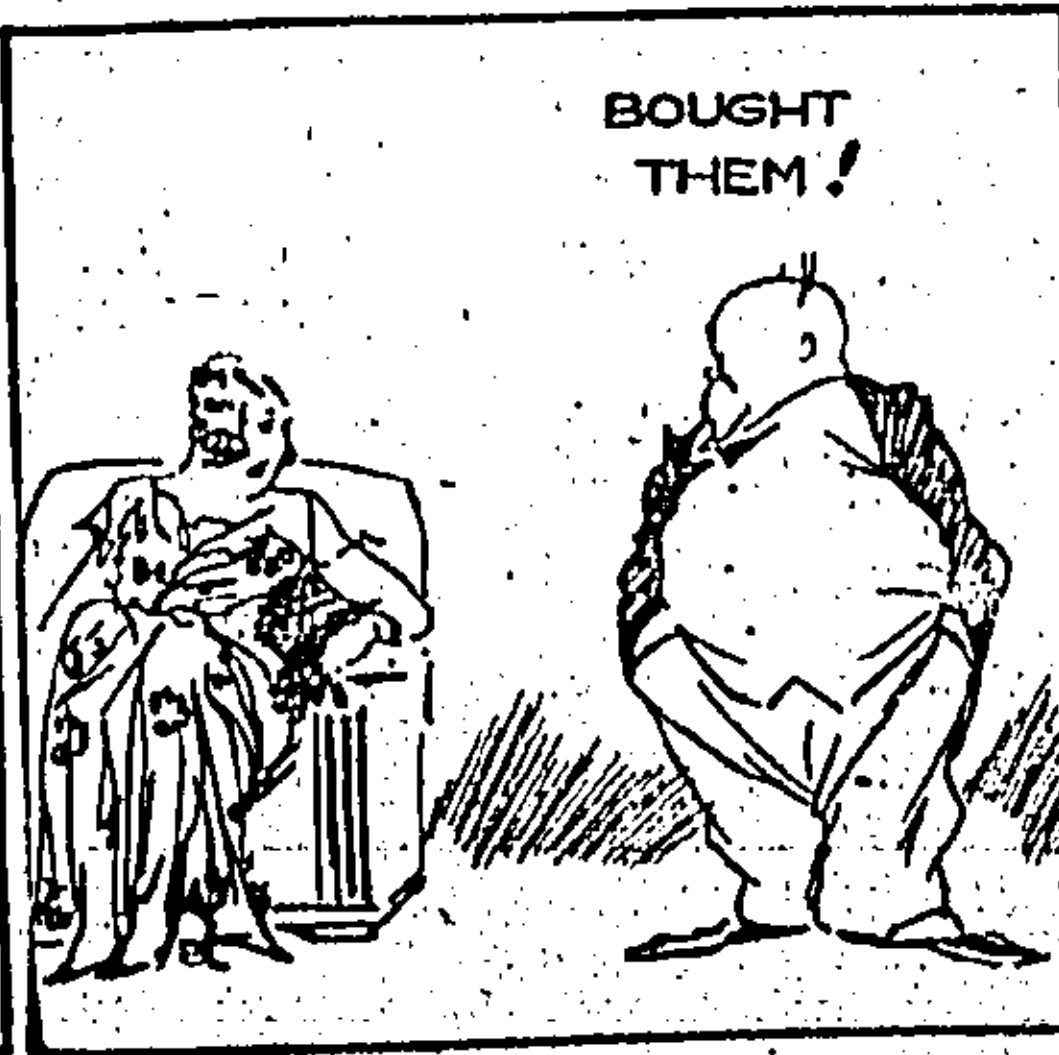

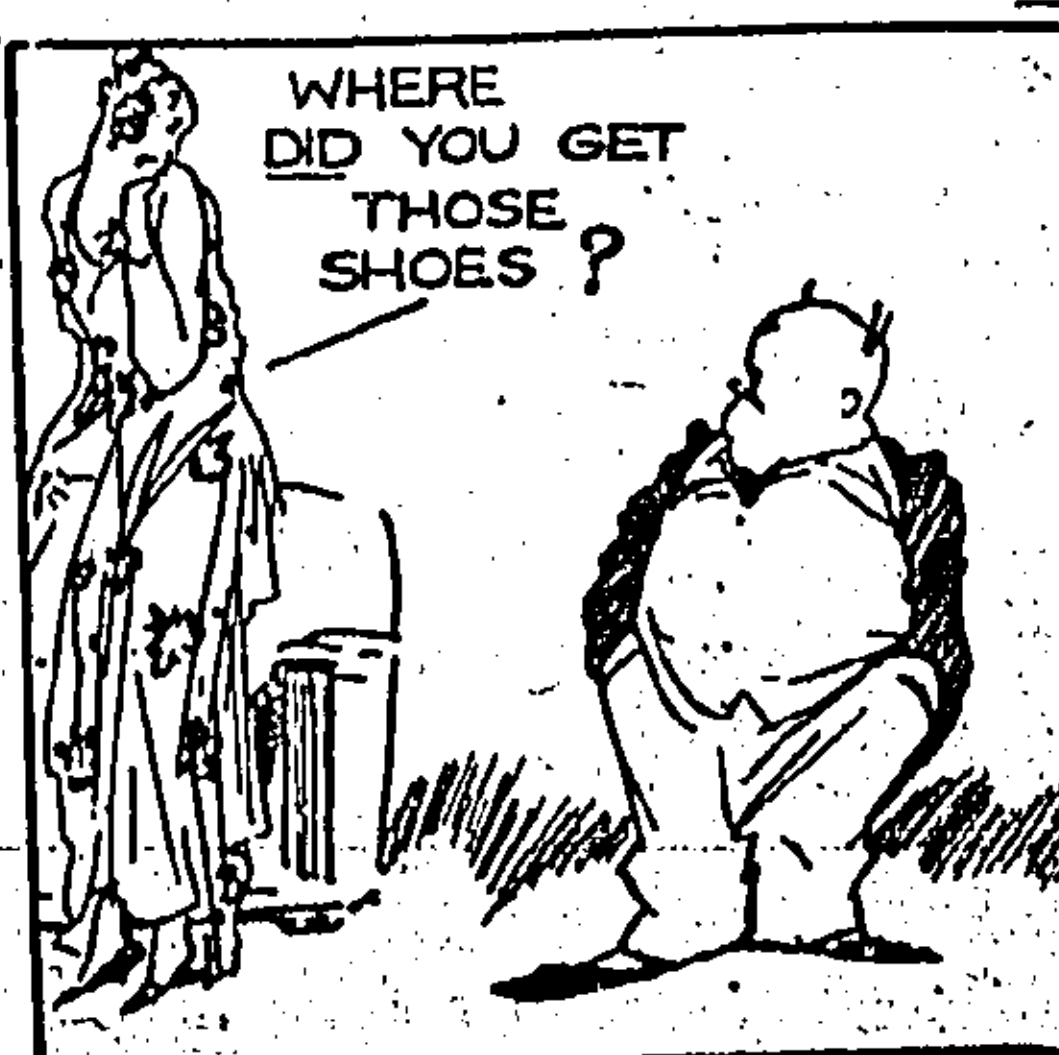

It stands to reason that if we had not mastered Price and Economy we never could have offered the Ford V-8 in the low-price car field. We have to build a car that has everything a car ought to have, and that people can afford to buy.

The V-8 is the coming car for the majority of American drivers. As always we have done the pioneer work. It will be only a short time until motor manufacturing practice will follow the trail we have blazed.

without realizing that he had done no, and the consequence was that when he hurried away he went in a different direction from the one which he intended to take. He did not discover his mistake until they had reached a wall which was obviously much farther from the main gate than Thompson's door had been. Furthermore, there was no door, but merely a solid wall. Then Geoffrey realised his error, but there was no time to rectify it; the steps were rapidly approaching.

He felt his way along the wall, and then suddenly his hand touched nothing and he knew that they had reached the entrance to one of the passages. He had no choice. He did not know where they were, having completely lost his bearings in the dark. After all, if they were to lie in hiding until the morning, one passage might probably do as well as another. There was not a moment to waste in hesitation. He accordingly led the way up the unknown corridor, feeling the wall with his hand as he went, his pistol ready and Phyllis clinging on to his Tibetan garment. The passage seemed to take a gradual bend to the left. They had not moved ten yards along it when the man who had been approaching reached the entrance-hall and banged on one of the doors which they had noticed let into the walls. There were some mutterings in response, and after a few seconds, which seemed as if they would never pass, the door was opened and the intruder was let in. The door closed once more, but the murmur of voices was distinctly audible.

"I think we had better move on a little," breathed Geoffrey into his companion's ears, and again the cautious advance was resumed. Suddenly the door opened again and the voices became louder. Geoffrey could distinguish the Tibetan words, and then the owners of the voices proceeded up the very passage in which he and the Merridews had taken refuge. He stretched his hand out once more, and, joy of joys! he felt a curtain. The Tibetans were now but a few short paces in rear. He quietly but hurriedly drew his companions behind the curtain, where they all three waited, scarce daring to breathe, as the Tibetans passed.

But as the footsteps died away Geoffrey suddenly realised that he was no longer alone with Phyllis and her father. He felt that other human beings were very near, and listening he now heard the unmistakable sounds of the deep breathing of several sleeping men. They were not immediately beside him, but all the same he knew that the sleepers could not be very many feet away.

He concluded, and as it happened rightly, that they had sheltered in an alcove in which the Tibetan guards of the temple slept, ready for immediate action. The footsteps in the passage outside could no longer be heard, and Geoffrey led the way back into the passage once again.

But he had not gone two paces when Phyllis whispered: "Stop! Father is not with us!" She had momentarily let go her hold on the missionary when they were hiding in the alcove in order to cover her mouth with her hand to stifle a cough. The cough had never come, and just as she was about to feel for her father once more Geoffrey had pulled her after him. She had clutched at what she believed to be her father's dress, but it proved to be nothing but the curtain. Her father was still in the alcove! Phyllis and Geoffrey could hear him creeping about, and Geoffrey was on the point of risking a low directing whisper when he heard Mr. Merridew stumble and fall. There immediately followed a cry of surprise, and then the sound of men struggling. An angry voice ejaculated in Tibetan "Who is it?" and there were one or two sleepy queries in the same tongue as to what the matter was. Then Geoffrey heard a blow struck on something soft. There was a coughing groan, and Mr. Merridew rushed into the passage.

Geoffrey caught him and held him still. He did not even dare risk a hiss. But it was of no use. The guards had taken the alarm. A match spluttered out behind the curtain, and even then Geoffrey could not help being surprised at matches in a Tibetan temple. Someone gave a loud cry and the whole alcove suddenly sprang to life.

With Phyllis still clinging to him Geoffrey tried to make a dash for the entrance-hall, but there were shouts ahead, and he quickly turned about and ran panting up the passage away from the hall the passage guard, with the temple guards in close pursuit. It was pitch dark, and the floor of the passage was rough and uneven. The Tibetans were gaining rapidly when Phyllis stumbled and fell. Geoffrey and her father pulled her up, but the delay was fatal, and the leading guard closed with the missionary, who was behind. Geoffrey heard the thud of a blow and a shout of pain. Mr. Merridew tore himself free and shoved Phyllis and Geoffrey on ahead. The pursuers checked for a moment, for the missionary had used his knife well for the second time in the last few minutes. But the pause was only momentary, and they took up the pursuit again with loud yells of fury.
